at 12 p.m. to count any ballots that arrive at an elections office that is postmarked by election day.

At Tonsler Park voting precinct in Charlottesville, Webb said that he and his campaign had seen “high energy” at the polls throughout election day.

“I think folks are really excited about having a chance to vote in this election, across the ticket,” Webb said. “It’s been a good day to see our democracy in action.”

The Good campaign did not respond to a request for comment.

Good carried Appomattox, Buckingham, Charlotte, Cumberland, Greene, Halifax, Henry, Lunenburg, Madison, Mecklenburg, Pittsylvania and Rapahannock counties with 100% of the votes counted in those localities.

Webb carried Brunswick, Nelson and Prince Edward counties and the cities of Charlottesville and Danville with 100% of the votes counted in those localities.

President Donald Trump won the 5th Congressional District by 11 points in 2016. The district’s current representative Rep. Denver Riggleman (R) won by six points in 2018 over Democratic candidate Leslie Cockburn. A Democrat hasn’t held the seat since former Rep. Tom Perriello won the seat in 2008, before the district was redrawn to include part of Fauquier County.

Good, 55, is a former Liberty University athletics official and former Campbell County supervisor. Webb, 37, is a practicing physician and public health expert who works at UVA’s School of Medicine.

Absentee ballots reported separately

Local precinct results reflect only ballots cast in person on Election Day. All absentee ballots are reported in a single “precinct” separate from ballots cast at polling places on Election Day. More than half of registered voters in Fauquier County – along with Virginia as a whole -- had cast an absentee ballot before Election Day, meaning the number of votes reported as part of the absentee precinct exceed the combined total of all other precincts.

IN BRIEF

Local church hosts food pantry

Redeemed Church of Jesus Christ, 9552 James Madison Highway, Warrenton, invites the community to visit their food pantry, open every Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon.

This institution is an equal opportunity provider. Visit www.redeemedchurchva.org for more information or call 540-935-2956.

Scout Day at the Fauquier History Museum

The Fauquier History Museum at the Old Jail will host Scout Day on Nov. 8, from noon to 2 p.m. Participants will take part in a scavenger hunt for unique places in historic downtown Warrenton and collect “passport” stamps at various locations. Completed scavenger hunt passports will earn each child a special Fauquier History Museum fun patch. Participants are encouraged to bring a snack or lunch to enjoy on the front lawn of the museum.

Tickets are $7 per scout, sibling or friend. One adult is admitted free with each scout; tickets are $2 per additional adult. This is not a drop-off event; each scout must be accompanied by an adult.

Tickets are available on the Fauquier Historical Society website (<http://www.fauquierhistory.org/events>) or through Eventbrite (<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/family-history-day-tickets-119460346111>).
