

We Can Help Resolve Your Conflict

The Mediation Center of Charlottesville (MCC) is here to help you move through the uncomfortable process of conflict resolution. Since 1984, MCC has been providing the greater Charlottesville area with a table to sit at and professional mediators to facilitate the very process most people would rather avoid. We do it by creating a safe, respectful environment and listening. We make sure all involved have an opportunity to speak their truth and be heard; then we look for common ground to build upon. We have conducted thousands of mediations, and we know there is usually at least one little plot of common ground, even if you don't think there is, and that's where we start, together.

Sometimes an agreement is not reached, but a long, cold impasse is broken, opening the way for further dialogue and releasing some of the pressure that standoffs produce. Most often, an agreement is reached, and we witness the relief of getting to the other side of a barrier that was just too rigid or complex to navigate alone. We witness smiles, handshakes, and even hugs where there had been tension and stress.

Please contact us if our certified mediators can assist you in getting to the other side of a dispute you are having with someone. Maybe it's with a partner, a co-parent, a landlord or tenant, a business associate or employer/employee, a family member, or a neighbor. Conflict is hard, but we can help.

We can also help if you are interested in becoming a Virginia Supreme Court-certified mediator! MCC offers training courses to that end, and opportunities to hone your skills. Please contact us at mcc@mediationville.org about the upcoming foundational course offering, Basic Mediation Skills, to be held online in May, or visit www.mediationville.org.

As the only nonprofit in the area offering the services we provide, we sincerely thank you for your decades-long support, Charlottesville! Together, we are creating a more peaceful community.
