Space Explorer Camp

July 12-15, 2022

Explore the cosmos as early astronomers did through two small pieces of glass. Continue the journey discovering the science behind features of the Moon, the future of space travel, and how coding and robotics have aided humans in further exploration. Launch yourself into an out-of-this-world adventure! Campers will discover many connections between STEM and space, and will leave more curious about the future. Participants will take part in a variety of activities, spend a little time in the Digital Dome Theater, engage in some fun games and explore the galleries.
