Fair outlasts inclement weather to shine

Thousands from the area and beyond gathered in Courtland for the 2022 Franklin-Southampton County Fair that ran from Wednesday, Aug. 10, through Saturday, Aug. 13, and outlasted some inclement weather that came during the week.

"I feel we had a good fair considering we had the rain Wednesday and Thursday," Fair President Glenn Joyner said. "But overall, (the fair) really picked up at the end of the week on the weekend. Weather was perfect for it the last of the week. So it was, I would say, above average."

He estimated that across all four days of the fair, between 8,000 and 9,000 people attended it.

Joyner stated that the Six-year-old Addyson Moss, of Emporia, is strapped in and holds on as an attraction at the fair turns her around and upside down.

Ed Griggs and his granddaughter Kaydyn Griggs make their descent on the Fun Slide at the fair.

A'Layla Peterson smiles as one of the rides at the fair speeds up and sends its occupants through the air at an angle.

The smile of Matthew Domer, of Southampton County, conveys his interest in the activity of the robots on the screen as Amy L. Phillips, promoting Blackwater Robotics at the fair, helps explain what the machines are capable of.

Alfred Mackler, of Suffolk, enjoys some time at the wheel of a 1948 Farmall Cub that was on display at the fair. The tractor has belonged to Tommy Lowe for about 25 years. Standing next to the tractor with Alfred is Lauren Mackler.

Southampton Treasurer's Office receives accreditation

STAFF REPORT

The Southampton County Treasurer's Office received its accreditation from the Treasurers' Association of Virginia on June 13.

A TAV news release stated that the Office Accreditation program is a volunary professional certificate program overseen by the Treasurers' Association of Virginia. Seventy-five treasurer's offices received accreditation this year.

The Southampton County Treasurer's Office is led by Treasurer Cynthia J. Edwards.

While it is not required for any treasurer's office to be accredited, receiving accreditation acknowledges that the office meets the statewide best practices for performance in treasury management.

As part of the accreditation process, offices must successfully pass an outside audit with no findings of material weakness.

The rigorous accreditation process also requires proof of continuing education such as attendance of an ethics course by the treasurer (or a principal officer) and educational requirements for all staff. Accredited offices are required to have written policies in place addressing areas such as personnel, customer service and delinquent collections.

"These offices have met the highest standards of excellence and integrity measured by our association," TAV President Dinah Babb said. "We are proud of the 75 offices which received accreditation this year and the hard work and dedication it took for each of them to achieve this recognition."

FAIR: 'I saw a lot of different license plates'

majority of people attending the fair were local, meaning they came from Suffolk to Emporia and everywhere in between, but he did sense there were a decent number of people who traveled a bit to come this year, possibly for the first time.

"I've been here all my life — I saw a lot of faces I've never seen," he said. "I saw a lot of different license plates in the parking lot."

Joyner's wife, Janet Joyner, ran both the Little Miss and Miss Franklin-Southampton County Fair pageants and was pleased with how they went. Due to the inclement weather on Aug. 9 and 10, both events were moved to Southampton High School.

"We had wonderful pageants this year," she said. "Everyone loved them being at the school and in an air-conditioned building."

Glenn Joyner made a point to highlight the 2022 fair's sponsors.

"With all this, we couldn't have done it without the sponsors," he said. "They really, really stepped their game up with times like they are right now, and sponsors were up from the previous years, and we picked up right many new sponsors. I keep wanting to shout out to them as much as I can because they are my bread and butter when it comes to the events."
