

Liberty High School celebrates homecoming

Friday was a good day to be a Liberty Eagle. The Bealeton high school's homecoming week culminated in a pep rally after school followed by a pre-game tailgate party in the parking lot.

Principal Sam Cox sported an outfit that exemplified school spirit. The school's clubs, sports teams and academic departments hosted activities from lassoing to face painting to cornhole. Teacher Linda Koval's math club made pi pies. A student skated through the parking lot on a hoverboard.

A little later, at halftime of the football game, the school's JROTC created a tunnel of swords for members of the homecoming court as they processed onto the field, cheered on by family and friends in the stands.

Homecoming king Joey Triplett, a wide receiver and cornerback for the football team, then helped the Eagles to a dramatic win over Sherando, keeping the celebratory mood alive in Bealeton.

The dance took place Saturday night.
