

Economic development is everyone's business!

When you think of economic development, you might think of ribbon cuttings in Hampton Roads, the opening of a large manufacturing plant in southwest Virginia or a major corporate headquarters choosing Northern Virginia for their new location. But economic development is so much more than that.

It's a mom-and-pop shop opening on Main Street. It's empowering entrepreneurs to start a new business. It's helping friends and neighbors recover from recessions.

Join, follow and engage with the Virginia Economic Developers Association TODAY to be part of the growth, celebration and advancement of communities all across the Commonwealth. goveda.org